

Alex Manusu

+61 413 174 900
alex.manusu@gmail.com

PROFILE

I am a dedicated, ferociously determined individual, who doesn't give up and is known for 'Making things Happen'. I immerse myself in the IT world following the latest trends as they come up. I want to use my knowledge and passion to build products that people truly care about and need.

EXPERIENCE

Atlassian: Product Management Intern January 2012 - July 2012 & January 2014 - Present

- Owned a new product during the initial stages of development
- Piloted initial usability testing processes for the whole company
- Coordinated, planned and ran interviews with customers and non-customers to understand guide development of new features and new products
- Competitive landscape analysis to identify new product opportunities
- Analytics (Hive/Hadoop) to better understand customer behaviour

Merck Sharp Dohme: IT Specialist (Intern) July 2013 - December 2013

- Designed a new product to be built in 2014 this included making mockups, planning the hosting system and writing a clear and detailed specification
- Managed contractors to ensure maintenance of existing products continued at an appropriate level
- Wrote specifications for changes to existing products, and tested these changes

BAE Systems Detica: Associate Consultant (Intern) January 2013 - July 2013

- Assisted in penetration testing on clients web applications
- Maintained Linux servers used for external testing of clients
- Developed new features for an internal (Django) application
- Planned a new training course for Detica to provide to clients

EDUCATION

UNSW — Business Information Systems (Honours) 2011 - Present
(Co-Op Scholarship valued at $16,750 p.a. for academic and interpersonal skills)

KTH (Stockholm, Sweden) - Exchange - 2012

The Scots College - 2004-2010

SKILLS

I have strong leadership skills, taking an organising and planning role in university assignments, and in my previous internships. This combined with my strong analytical and technical skills which I have demonstrated repeatedly through my previous internships, gives me the ability to achieve great things.

Referees available on request